Stephen D. Lalonde

Stephen was born in Ellensburg, Washington and grew up in Yakima, Ashland, Oregon, and Washtucna, where he graduated from high school. He was a Boy Scout and the founding member of a dance band. The Brass Knights were patterned after the then popular Tijuana Brass.

Over the years, Stephen has taught school in Glenwood, Washington and later in Spokane at University High School. In the twenty-six years he was there, he taught Classical Mythology and Media Production.

Now retired, he pursues a wide field of interests, including writing, woodworking, amateur radio and swimming.

The Phoenix Gift

Mary doesn't realize at first that she is a rebel looking for a cause. Her teenage daughter and son don't need as much of her time so she takes on the regular visit to her father-in-law who has advanced cancer and Alzheimer's. When she realizes that he is going to die with no significant memory of living she decides to research his life in an effort to give it back to him before he passes. In the process Mary discovers something that changes her life.

(The original printing of this book has sold out. A second printing became available in the spring of 2018. It is available at Auntie's Bookstore in Spokane, Washington)
